INTRODUCING...

Cinema Style

Ever since the beginning of cinema, the costumes have been a vital element of the narrative, and have even helped actors to “find” their role.

Yet, their importance has not always been recognized: The costume designers of the very first films were not mentioned in the credits, and although the film industry grew and grew, the Oscar Awards category of Best Costume Design was not introduced until 1948.

With this special edition we are honouring the masters of costume design, like Adrian, Edith Head, Edward Stevenson, Howard Greer or Theodora Van Runkle. Their work has inspired us to create patterns based on costumes of the most memorable films in cinematic history, among them Sabrina, A Streetcar Named Desire, Singin’ in the Rain, Rosemary’s Baby, Breakfast at Tiffany’s, and Grease.

Go ahead and create your very own Hollywood style!

SKILL LEVEL

Ever since its "birth" at the beginning of the 20th century, the influence of Hollywood on fashion has been omnipresent. It positively flourished after the First World War, attracting more and more spectators, which led to the so-called "star system".

These stars were actors playing highly praised and admired roles that turned into examples everybody should follow. During the first five decades of the last century, they had a huge influence on fashion, introducing many new concepts and styles (like Audrey Hepburn's famous bateau neckline in Sabrina, Joan Fontaine's cardigan from the Hitchcock film Rebecca, or the Apollo jumper from The Shining).

In A Streetcar Named Desire Marlon Brando introduces the plain white cotton t-shirt to fashion. From that moment on, it became very popular and men started to wear it not only as an undergarment, but also as outerwear. The creator of this style was Lucinda Ballard who was honoured for it with a nomination for an Academy Award for Best Costume Design.

Films & Style

In this pattern we wanted to imitate the form of the classic white undershirt that became popular as an outer garment thanks to this film.

Décolleté Sabrina

One of the garments most often cited by fashion and cinema enthusiasts is the black dress with the knotted straps Sabrina wears to the ball. Givenchy called its unique neckline, designed to cover the collarbone on the protagonist's request, décolleté Sabrina.

Green Mood

Madeleine may be more elegant, but we are smitten with Judy's green jumper. With our easy D.I.Y project you can make your own.

Finishing

Sew on the buttons in a diagonal line as shown in the picture. We recommend trying on the vest to determine the exact position of the buttons. Weave in the ends and block as needed.

REFASHION ✂

SKILL LEVEL ●○○

SIZES CUSTOM

TIP

Use a cotton or flannel shirt, depending on the season.

MATERIALS

- 3 buttons
- 2 m (2.2 yds.) of insertion lace trimming (for the applications), a piece of wide satin ribbon (for the bow)
- A shirt that is one or two sizes bigger than your usual size

INSTRUCTIONS

1 Cut the shirt in two horizontally, right below the sleeves. Cut off the lower quarter of the sleeves.

2 Open the collar seams and cut it to form a crew neck. Sew on the buttons you have chosen for your nightdress and hem the sleeves.

3 Sew the lace trimming onto the upper bodice and the sleeves (at about 5 or 8 cm (2 or 3 in) from the sleeve hem). Then, pull a cord or ribbon through the lace trimming as shown in the picture.

4 Join the upper and the lower bodice, turning the lower part back to front (the button facing is at the back now). Finish by attaching the bow to the front and hem the neckline.

TIP

Don't try making big modifications on the jumper, as knit fabrics might be quite difficult to sew without a serger.

MATERIALS

- A jumper
- A blouse of your usual size with a neckline similar to the jumper's

INSTRUCTIONS

1 Cut the collar and the cuffs off the blouse leaving 1 or 2 cm (0.30 or 0.79 in) of seam allowance.

2 Sew the collar and the cuffs on the jumper and trim the edges.
